The PanicRoom is a bi-annual inspiration night created, curated and hosted by PostPanic

PostPanic is a Dutch filmmaking, design, and VFX collective—a visual dream team capable of anything and everything. Their distinctive style's nucleus is a shared passion for live action, motion graphics, visual effects, and 2D/3D animation. Their unified vision and unparalleled versatility allows PostPanic to not only imagine what others can't, but to fully execute the impossible completely in-house.

First launched back in 2009, The PanicRoom is PostPanic's way of bringing together like-minded souls to find out what makes extraordinary creatives tick.

Savage has been a supporter of this initiative for many years and it is only logical that 2017 finally sees the first edition of PanicRoom in our home base – in Prague.

The event will feature 3 specially invited speakers, chosen by Savage/PostPanic team because of their inspirational work, regardless of whether they are actual business competitors of ours or not. This is because the aim of the PanicRoom is to share the subjects and people we all find fascinating – it's not a showcase and it's not about wheeling and dealing. Each speaker has maximum 30 minutes to share what's currently making them tick, be it youtube clips, books, LP covers, photography, food, porn – anything goes.

The confirmed speakers for Prague's edition are Johnny Hardstaff (UK, <http://www.johnnyhardstaff.com/>) and Jamie James Medina (US, <http://postpanic.net/pp/directors/jjmedina.html>).

The third speaker's name will be revealed in 2 weeks.

Host: Mischa Rozema (co-founder, director and Creative Director @ PostPanic. Amsterdam)

The event will be held between 7 pm and midnight at Tovarna, in Delnicka, 63. Prague 7, Holesovice.
May 25th, Thursday.

Drinks and dancing will follow once we all feel inspired enough by the talks. Though we don't mind you listening with a drink in your hand!
